

Understanding OER's Impact on Educational Institutions and Developers/Publishers

April 3, 2013

On March 21, SIIA released a Use of Open Educational Resources \(OER\) in K-12 and Postsecondary Education. Free and openly licensed educational resources are having an increasingly significant impact on education. This webinar will help SIIA members and other stakeholders understand the scale, scope and impact of OER, including the implications for educational resource development and implementation. Specific topics addressed will include the total costs of development and ownership, business models employed by OER initiatives, and the implications for the sector and industry.

Speakers:

- Sue Collins, Principal, CollinsConsults
- Peter Levy, Chief Operating Officer, Learning in Motion
- Mark Schneiderman, Senior Director of Education Policy, SIIA
